

Passage from a Short Story

Illustrate a passage of at least ten lines from the short story. This example should represent what you consider good style in writing. It should also be a quote of particular significance in the short story. Include title, author, and page number. Arrange the passage neatly on the page, taking into consideration margins, white spaces, and emphasis through line breaks and shape. Illustrate appropriately. Make sure your name and hour are on the front if you want a grade.

On separate paper, write a paragraph explaining the elements of good writing you find in this passage and why this passage is significant in the context of the short. Use specific examples to support your opinion.
