Zombie Apocalypse

(Individual Decision)

SCENARIO: Three days ago, a zombie apocalypse broke out around the world, with massive attacks in all heavily populated areas. You have been bitten and will soon change into a zombie within the next day.

Some leaders saw this coming, and were able to put 100 children (ages 3-4) from around the globe into cryogenic suspension in a bomb shelter; in a year, they can be resuscitated and raised after the zombies have been defeated.

You get a radio call: The intended adult caretakers met a tragic accident, and did not make it to the shelter. Instead, sixteen other random people made it. BUT: there is only enough food, air, and other supplies to keep SEVEN (7) of them alive until the zombies are gone. Nine people must be ejected, and they can't come to an agreement themselves. You must decide for them.

These are the only adults around to raise the future generations and set up our future society.

Choose which seven you decide to keep and which nine you decide to eject, and explain your reasons in the table on the back of this page. Be prepared to defend your choice with your group.

1. Amy Wilson -- Airline pilot, Age 50, single. Recovering alcoholic.
2. Amel Begic -- First lieutenant in the navy. Age 28, single. Has a blood condition that prevents him from properly forming blood clots--this means that he bleeds more after injury than most people and bruises easily.
3. Rhonda James -- minister, Age 41, single. Was a choir director in a church for 10 years.
4. Babak Shahrivar -- Construction worker, Age 25, married to Amina (#5). Served 5 years in prison for aggravated burglary.

6. Diego Vezzano -- high school drama coach. Age 23, single.
7. Marisa Arellano -- Nurse's assistant. Age 58, married. She speaks very little English and is fluent in Spanish and Portuguese.
8. Roy Tran -- farmer. Age 43, married. Has a bad knee -- can't run or lift heavy loads. Has 5 years of military experience.
9. James McNeigh -- Policeman, age 28, single. Had been on suspension. He has a gun (and refuses to be separated from it).
10. Marjorie Blaylock -- Lawyer. Age 37, single. Suffers from depression.
