Onions have layers...
Ogres have layers...
Characters have layers!

Answer the following questions with your group (use quotes from the text)...

1. What does your character look like?

2. What does your character sound like (say)?

3. What does your character say about himself or herself?

4. What do other characters say about your character?
What are the thoughts/ideas of your character...?

What does your character look like...?

What does your character do...?

What does your character feel...?